

This track doesn't go anywhere

Written by Administrator

Wednesday, 23 July 2014 04:07

Let's face it, the relevance of the military establishment of Pakistan would wane if peace between the two nations was to prevail. Be it I or II, these non-official tracks don't seem to be going anywhere. Exchange of such citizen delegations, of which veteran journalist Ved Prakash Vaidik was a part, is at best a case of kitty party extending network across the borders. For detailed analysis of the reasons for the failure of Track II diplomacy click here