The first expansion of council of ministers undertaken by prime minister Narendra Modi on Sunday 09 November 2014 clearly bears the stamp of the government's head and his close confidant, party president Amit Shah. It reiterates prime minister's line of integrity and efficiency in government. While Modi so far has managed well on the integrity of ministers, same cannot be said about the efficiency quotient. The government urgently needs to deliver on its promise of 'ache din' (good days) to the people. Likes of Suresh Prabhu and Manohar Parrikar have been inducted precisely with this agenda in mind. For detail analysis click here